SMART MAINTENANCE SOLUTIONS FOR CONTINUOUS PRODUCTION PLANT

WE WANT TO BE SUCCESSFUL,
NOT ONLY IN
WHAT WE DO BUT ALSO IN HOW WE DO IT.

FOREWORD

The success of a business depends on many factors. Naturally there are the products and services, the pricing policy and the timing and quality of delivery. Without these, there is no business. However, what distinguishes a successful and sustainable business from short-lived ventures is the discipline of all its employees, management, and staff to live by certain business principles.

At Dietsmann we call these business principles the “Business Code of Conduct & Ethics Policy”. It is the glue that makes us work together and gives us pride in our work. It is the soul and culture of our Company. It formalizes Dietsmann’s ethical commitments. It is based on Dietsmann’s core values of integrity, respect, loyalty, efficiency and transparency as well as the principles underlying the United Nations Global Compact and the Dutch Corporate Governance Code.

We signed-up to the United Nations Global Compact back in 2011 and we today are still committed to actions aimed at structuring our initiative and certifying that we respect the principles of Human Rights, International Labor Rights, Environmental Care and Ethics. In line with its own business principles and corporate values, Dietsmann fully supports the ten principles of the Global Compact and takes every opportunity to advance those principles within its sphere of influence.

To go further in its commitment regarding these principles, Dietsmann is starting the process of integrating the Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) criteria. Integrating the ESG will allow us to prove our commitment to these three domains and set ambitious goals.

This Code will help every one of us to respect these commitments every day. It summarizes what we expect from each of our employees and contains the guidelines you need to enable you to do your job properly. Now more than ever in the period following the COVID-19 pandemic, our HSEQ rules and standards are crucial and we say that if “Maintenance is our Core Business, HSEQ are our Core Values”.

This “Business Code of Conduct & Ethics Policy” is complementary to all other Corporate Policies. We expect you to be disciplined in your work and behavior so as to promote mutual respect.

Each of us is responsible for observing this Code. It not only ensures our compliance with the applicable laws in every country in which we operate, it also ensures our achievement of the highest standards of corporate responsibility.

At Dietsmann we encourage innovative thinking and the freedom to be creative and find new and better ways to serve our clients. This freedom can only bear fruits when we all adhere to our Business Principles and act within the boundaries of the following “Business Code of Conduct & Ethics Policy”.

As the famous author and philosopher Voltaire said: “Freedom without discipline equals chaos”. I am proud to attach hereby the latest edition of Dietsmann’s “Business Code of Conduct & Ethics Policy”.

We also expect those we work with to uphold standards and principles that are consistent with our own. We all have a role to play, and are individually accountable for ensuring that we and the people working with us follow the Code's principles and the policies that underpin it.

This Code is an integral component of the terms of employment of all Dietsmann employees; additional specific rules related to distinctive national or client contexts might be added in local welcoming information or safety handbooks. If an employee is concerned that any point in this Code is in conflict with local laws he/she should consult the Ethics Committee.

To allow all business partners and stakeholders to read and understand the Company's general rules and to encourage them to implement good practices in their own companies this Code is published and freely available on Dietsmann's website.

2. THE COMPLIANCE WITH THE CODE DIETSMANN EXPECTS FROM ITS EMPLOYEES

Dietsmann expects all those concerned to comply with the Code by:

- Integrating the Company's core values in their daily behavior and strictly applying the guidelines stated in this code.
- Respecting hierarchical instructions.

An upstream communication procedure can be requested from the Ethics Committee.

WHAT IF AN EMPLOYEE HAS AN ETHICS CONCERN?

The responsibility for carrying out investigations rests with the Ethics Committee.

Any employee may be requested to participate in an investigation and is expected to provide all requested assistance.

WILL THERE BE ANY REPERCUSSIONS FOR AN EMPLOYEE WHO REPORTS A CONCERN?

All requests for assistance from, or reports of concerns by, employees are handled in the strictest confidence.

Comments and suggestions can be sent to the upline email address given above. Employees' opinions are important to Dietsmann and may contribute towards the continuous improvement of this Code.

For a business partner, this could lead to the contract with Dietsmann being terminated.

The text of the Business Partner Policy is published in full in the Corporate section of Dietsmann's website www.dietsmann.com.

II. THE PRINCIPLES BEHIND THE CODE

In conducting its business Dietsmann endorses and applies the principles of fairness, loyalty, transparency, efficiency and integrity. Bribes, illegal favors, collusion, pressures and requests of a personal nature to benefit oneself or others, either directly or through third parties, are prohibited.

4. HOSPITALITY, ENTERTAINMENT AND RECEIVING / GIVING GIFTS

Gifts, hospitality and entertainment" means anything of substantial value, including (but not limited to) discounts or free tickets to events, reduced prices, transportation, travel, use of vacation facilities and/or meals.

Gifts, hospitality and entertainment are often thought of as a form of courtesy and are quite common in everyday business. In some circumstances, however, they may be a form of bribery, particularly when used to induce favorable treatment, for example in the context of a tender process.

In many cultures constructive relationships may include incidental business gifts and entertainment. The receiving/giving of reasonable, business-related, gifts and hospitality should be carefully balanced with the risk that these could be perceived as bribes. Such gifts and hospitality may, therefore, be received/given on an incidental basis as long as this does not violate local laws and/or oblige the donor or embarrass the recipient.

An employee to whom an inappropriate offer has been made can decline the offer by referring to the Dietsmann Business Code of Conduct & Ethics Policy.

- Any employee receiving gifts and/or entertainment from a third party, or giving them to a third party, on behalf of Dietsmann is expected to exercise good judgment in each case. 6. POLITICAL ACTIVITIES AND CONTRIBUTIONS

Dietsmann's policy is to refrain from making contributions to political candidates and political parties, except as permitted by applicable laws and authorized by the Board of Directors.

Dietsmann considers involvement in politics, contributing financially to a political party or candidate, remaining informed of political matters, serving in civic bodies, campaigning and holding office at a local or national level are important rights and responsibilities of the citizens of a democracy.

An employee wishing to engage in political activities is, however, expected to do so as a private citizen, outside working hours and not as a representative of the Company. Under no circumstances will Dietsmann pay expenses linked to personal political involvement. Employees shall refrain from political activity in countries in which they are not entitled to exercise political rights and in which the Company operates. Personal, legal political contributions or non- contributions will not influence compensation, job security, or opportunities for advancement.
